

Un Âne Gonflable

Self Titled

About

Un âne gonflable is an elegant indie band based in Berlin. Influenced by The Whitest Boy Alive, The Strokes, Femi Kuti and French pop acts, they mix powerful guitars with dancy, syncopated grooves, enriched by a hint of clarinet.

The well-arranged melodies are inlaid with heavily ironic, sweet and sour lines in French, English and German, in which frontman Luc André tells short stories about the woes of Generation Y.

Anything can happen within this album – you might get trapped in an elevator at the end of the night, ask out your colleague from the next desk or try to act like Hank Moody from the show Californication.

Their self titled debut album will be released on march 2, 2018.
