About the Release

Verdiana Raw is a versatile and complete twenty-nine years old artist. As songwriter and performer, she combines passion and technique in a continuous growth through research and artistic work, studies and collaborations in various disciplines: music, theater, dance, painting, poetry.

Her second album, 'Whales Know The Route' is her latest one and has been released in May 2016 via Pippola Music/Audioglobe/Rough Trade.

The experience of motherhood, the music therapy studies, the new artistic collaborations, including the meeting with Paolo Favati (of Pankow fame) have deeply marked Verdiana Raw's artistic project. Paolo Favati contributed with a sophisticated and ambitious production as well as playing bass throughout the album. The viola player Erika Giansanti, a very emotional musician, was able to build a bridge between the neo classical atmospheres of the previous album 'Metaxy' and the 'alternative rock' sound of 'Whales Know The Route'. Antonio Bacchi's guitars and Fabio Chiari's drums have walked alongside Verdiana in her path from the 'black and white' atmosphere of 'Metaxy' to the colors and nuances of the new album.

To support 'Whales Know The Route', Verdiana Raw will be touring Europe early December 2018. She will cross Switzerland, France, Belgium and Germany. On stage she will be accompanied by her four-piece band with notorious italian engineer Marco Lega (Marlene Kuntz, CCCP & Üstmamò) at the mixer. Concerts also include a series of acoustic gigs, some with the full band and others with a more intimate set voice / piano and viola.
